EAGLE'S EYE

EXPLAINED

Welcome, Eagles, to this issue of Eagles Eye! This title begs the question: what, exactly, is an eagle's eye? Is it an ode to our esteemed alumni, the proud Eagles who have soared from these halls into the wider world? Or is there something deeper, something that speaks to the very essence of this magazine and its place within our university community?

Today, let's explore this feathered metaphor in all its depth. For the eagle's eye is not just sharp vision; it's a multifaceted perspective, a way of seeing that transcends the ordinary.

Eye for Detail: Eagles, as apex predators, have eyes built for precision. They scan the landscape from dizzying heights, spotting prey hidden in the undergrowth, pinpointing movements that might escape a lesser gaze. Likewise, Eagles Eye strives for detail. We delve into the intricate stories of our students, faculty, and alumni, capturing the nuances of their experiences, the triumphs and struggles that paint the tapestry of our university life.

Broader Horizons: But an eagle's gaze is not confined to the ground. It sweeps across vast distances, taking in the world in its grand panorama. Eagles Eye, too, refuses to be limited. We look beyond the campus walls, engaging with global issues, exploring diverse perspectives, and challenging conventional wisdom. We aim to equip you, our readers, with the wings to understand the world's interconnectedness, to see your own lives within a wider context. Soaring Above the Crowd: Perhaps the most defining characteristic of an eagle's eye is its vantage point. High above the ground, the eagle sees a world untainted by petty squabbles and mundane distractions. Eagles Eye aspires to offer that same perspective. We encourage you to rise above the everyday, to see the bigger picture, to envision the possibilities that lie beyond the immediate horizon.

Remember, Eagles and soon to be eagles, the university we share is not just a collection of buildings and classes. It's a crucible where minds are sharpened, ideas take flight, and futures are forged. Eagles Eye is your window to this vibrant ecosystem, your invitation to see the world through the lens of possibility and purpose

This, then, is the eagle's eye: a vision at once detailed and expansive, insightful and critical, elevated and inspiring. It's the vision we strive for at Eagles Eye, and it's the vision we hope to ignite in each and every one of you.

Let your eyes take flight, Eagles. The sky's the limit.

IWD DAY

International Women's Day was encouraged by Clara Zetkin, the International Socialist Congress agreed in 1910 to create an international version of the U.S. holiday, and on March 19, 1911, the first IWD was held in Austria, Denmark, Germany, and Switzerland

It is a day when women are recognized for their achievements without regard to divisions, whether national, ethnic, linguistic, cultural, we celebrate women and girls around the world, and we applaud all they have achieved in the fight for equality. Women and girls have made great gains – demolishing barriers, dismantling stereotypes and driving progress towards a more just and equal world. Inspire Inclusion,” resonates deeply as a call to action to break down barriers, challenge biases, and cultivates a world where every woman feels valued and included. We hope to inspire inclusion even within the University as we celebrate another year of outstanding women.

HAPPY WOMEN'S DAY

Celebrations all round
For the women all round
The earth
They've cared and nurtured us
From day to night
From birth
Those who have paved the way
Fought so we could be free again
Marched on streets
So we could waltz
Into polling booths unrestrained
Happy Women's Day
Celebrations all round
In honor of all women
Who shook the ground to stand their ground.

A large group of young women of various ethnicities and styles are posing for a group photo in front of a modern, grey building with large windows. The women are dressed in a variety of colorful and fashionable outfits, including blouses, dresses, and jackets. They are all smiling and looking towards the camera. The background shows the building's facade and some greenery on the left side.

WELFARE NOTE

TIP 1

Maybe you've heard this a thousand times, but i will say it again, IF YOU SEE SOMETHING, SAY SOMETHING, even in CU things still dey occur (pardon my pidgin) but yeah, we can't pretend we live in a perfect world.

A lot of things go on that should not go on, and its important that if you notice anything strange, no matter how little in any level from students to faculty, staff or management, you report it to the appropriate authorities (notice i didnt say social media). And if you don't know where to go the student council is always here to provide help to those who require it. Learn to be sensitive and pay close attention to your environment guys.

Hello everyone, CU isn't like other schools out there, the environment is completely different from what you'd expect of a "typical" university. Regardless, the students still have needs and we try our best to ensure all are met by the school management and play our part in making you as "comfortable" as possible in Covenant University. So yeah from this angle we decided to reiterate some tips you might already know about how to thrive in CU.

TIP 2

One of the ways my life changed was through the community I found in my service unit (we are on in tune with the father!!!). I promise you guys, there's no better way to easily assimilate into the CU environment and thrive in it than to find a community of people you can relate with. Sure in all honesty it takes time to build a relationship even with people you share interests with, but I promise you it is without a doubt one of the best ways to grow as a person and have fun while doing it.

TIP 3

GOD!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!! i mean God. Many a times it has been said that if all you get from CU after you graduate is a degree, then you've lost more than you've gained because there is soooooo much more for you to gain that just a B.eng or B.sc. This ground is a place for you to build intimacy with your creator in an environment that is actually interested in seeing you grow spiritually. Don't leave this place without knowing the love God has for you, its key to everything that happens long after your degree may have lost relevance.

TIP 4

Learn skills: broo , sis, learn skill, academics are great but besides your career what can YOU DO? You are more than your career, take time to explore other avenues that may or may not be related to what you're studying, expand your horizons and grow.

Health is wealth: and i mean that literally, the amount med center charges for drugs and those needles they poke in you is no joke. Take time to care for yourself. Don't do drugs!!!!.

Wealth is Wealth: learn financial skills, budget, save, invest. learning about all these things early can make life a whole lot easier for you in the future.

Speak up: if you need help in any area, there's always someone not so far along that you can reach out to help. If you are having issues you feel no one else understands, be it relationships, spirituality, academics, skills, I promise you, someone does.

In all this remember, Jesus loves you, CUSC loves you, CU loves you and please!!!!!! take care of yourself, Only YOU can.
